

Herps

EASTERN WATER DRAGON (Intellagama lesueurii) – One at the platypus spot, then a bunch of the in a grassy lawn along the Canungra Creek, a group that included a couple of large, colorful males.

FRILL-NECKED LIZARD (Chlamydosaurus kingii) – Super looks at one along the roadside as we were leaving Granite Gorge.

CARPET PYTHON (Morelia spilota) – One individual about 10' in length crossed the road at Lake Eacham as we returned from dinner at Yungaburra. We then found another during the day at Duck Creek Road, again, right along the roadside.

YELLOW-FACED WHIP SNAKE (Demansia psammophis) – One of these beautiful snakes was going in and out of a small hole in a brick wall at the Bromfield Swamp overlook. We learned later why it was doing this, as we found its newly shed skin lodged in the hole. This is the second year in a row I've seen this snake there.

LACE MONITOR (Varanus varius) – The two large monitors we saw at Wondecla seem to have been this widespread species.
